TERRE BLANCHE HOTEL SPA GOLF RESORT  INTRODUCTION

Terre Blanche's unrivalled location enables guests to experience the charm and character of Provence along with the chic ambience of the Côte d'Azur. As a European Tour Destination, Terre Blanche is located on one of the most outstanding estates in the south of France. The 750-acre luxury resort is the only property of its kind in the region. Embracing its independence and unparalleled five-star offering, Terre Blanche provides refined hospitality rooted in authenticity and nature. It is a member of 'The Leading Hotels of the World'

Terre Blanche is the ideal destination from which to explore the south of France as it is only 45 minutes from Nice Côte d'Azur International Airport. The five star property consists of 115 independent suites and villas; 4 restaurants including the Michelin-starred 'Le Faventia'; an infinity pool overlooking the estate; a two storey luxury spa with an indoor pool and an outdoor vitality pool; tennis courts; 2 x 18 hole championship golf courses; and a Kid's Club (suitable for ages 3 - 12) with a terrace and private children's pool.

LOCATION

The resort is located 45 minutes from Nice Côte d'Azur International Airport, 35 minutes from Cannes, La Croisette, 90 minutes from Marseille, 90 minutes from Aix-en-Provence and 80 minutes from St-Tropez.

The stunning architectural and interior design of Terre Blanche is inspired by the natural beauty of the landscape. The estate combines the best of nature focusing on space and serenity, whilst maintaining the upmost respect for its surroundings. Many of the architectural elements were sourced from the local area, such as the white stone used throughout the buildings which was carved from the quarries of Provence and the use of local red clay to create the terra cotta seen in the suites and villas. This use of white and red provides a colour scheme synonymous with the architecture throughout southern France.

PHILOSOPHY

Terre Blanche prides itself on its environmental awareness and has strived to create a resort which complements the natural surroundings by respectfully working with the natural elements.

The resort is acutely aware of the importance of cohabitation and, as such, the project has been developed with a strong sense of interdependence, guaranteeing both the autonomy and the protection of the existing natural environment. Looking to the future, Terre Blanche makes continual investments in protecting its surroundings to ensure both the resort's and the landscape's survival.

The resort regularly carries out assessments and follow ups on its environmental impact, which to date has met all challenges by maintaining the full protection of the surrounding woodland. Eco - friendly lawn management and an ecological watering system is in place to irrigate the plants, which were chosen for the ability to adapt quickly to the climate.

The native woodland has been untouched and a herd of local donkeys resides on the resort conveying how Terre Blanche is determined to coexist in harmony with the surrounding environment without disturbing its natural vibrancy.

RESORT MAP

HISTORY

In the late 18th century French aristocrat Charles Bouge originally owned the estate, which was kept within the family for two centuries. In 1979 Camille Bouge, the current mayor of Tourrettes, sold the property to Sean Connery, who undertook challenging clearing work to lay down new fairways. However, the project was not completed and the investors sold it to GRTB in 1999. It was then that Dietmar Hopp discovered the exceptional landscape of Terre Blanche and fell in love with what was then simply a plot of woodland. Unlike his predecessors, the avid golfer and entrepreneur had a clear and obtainable vision for what the immense space could become.

Hopp began the transformation. Continuously aware of the effect on the environment, all of the earth removed from one area of land was used to fill another space. Equally all of the rubble produced was recycled into filling or building materials for the surrounding roads and paths. Looking to future development, a service tunnel was implemented beneath the estate to allow Terre Blanche to keep up with the ever changing technological demands without damaging the location's fragile balance by having to dig up the surface once again.

An environmentally aware and carefully built residential hotel and golf centre, this resort aspires not only to provide the upmost quality experience for its guests but also to enhance the economy and tourism of the region. Previously managed by Four Seasons, in 2012 Terre Blanche became an independent luxury resort and re-launched as the gateway to Provence and the Riviera with new, unique services. Today, the stunning location that is now Terre Blanche Hotel Spa Golf Resort reflects the passion of Hopp's dream, whilst preserving the fragile balance of its natural surroundings.

SUSTAINABILITY

Taking a holistic approach to nurturing both the environment and the local community, Terre Blanche is leading the way in sustainable practices using a combination of traditional methods and state of the art technology.

Terre Blanche has recently committed to replacing the grass on both the two 18-hole championship golf courses. The unprecedented process is currently underway with a special team to replace the flora of tees, semi-roughs and fairways on both Le Château and Le Riou courses, changing them to Bermuda Grass Riviera. Not only will this reduce water consumption, but it will also reduce the use of phytosanitary products and offer optimal golf ball lift, enhancing the golfing experience. The initial operation is currently underway, with the aim of both courses being fully composed of Bermuda Grass Riviera by summer 2022.

Terre Blanche resides within luxuriant woods, in close proximity to wildlife reserve St Cassien Lake, a naturally rich and biodiverse, but fragile landscape. The management has made every effort to conserve the natural habitat of the various native birds, mammals and insects, of which there are hundreds of species; from buzzards, nightingales and tawny owls, to pond turtles, red squirrels, pine martins, and bats. Rather than using expensive and indiscriminate mechanical clearing of the undergrowth, Terre Blanche set up a clearing team made up of five donkeys that are selective and leave the existing biotope and fauna untouched and undisturbed.

To preserve and develop this amazing biodiversity, the resort has entered the "Golf for Biodiversity" programme, launched jointly by the French Golf Federation and the National Museum of Natural History to share eco-friendly maintenance practices favorable towards the fauna and flora, to raise awareness among golfers on biodiversity issues and to promote golf as a responsible sport.

To reduce long term damage to the environment, generic mattresses in all suites and villas are COCOMAT® mattresses, produced by a Greek company with a virtually neutral carbon footprint and recycling reach of 96%.

These mattresses are 100% organic made of natural latex, rubberized coconut fibre, horsehair, cactus fibres and seaweed. Without compromising on quality, these mattresses are expertly designed to ensure maximum comfort and to allow guests to sleep peacefully with a clear conscience. At the same time, Terre Blanche has undertaken a series of measures to minimize its impact on the environment: waste recycling to create compost, use of organic cotton for all bathroom linen, new heating/cooling control system to avoid energy waste, removal of plastic straws, cups and bottles, new lighting with low-energy bulbs and purchase of fresh produce through a local food network.

For Terre Blanche respecting nature is fundamental and initiatives are in place across each and every corner of the 750 acre resort. The resort has an unwavering dedication to providing its guests with an exceptional luxury escape, where they can be at peace knowing that their outstanding experience is having minimal impact on the environment.

ACCOMMODATION

The all-suite and villa resort prides itself on luxurious space, comfort and privacy through a combination of traditional and contemporary Provençal decor. There are 115 spacious suites and villas ranging in size from 60 to 300 square metres all with private terraces, these include 90 independent suites of 60 square metres each; and 17 deluxe villas from 100 square metres each. Additionally there is the Méditerranée Villa with a private pool, the Estérel Villa and the Provence Villa with private jacuzzis, and the Terre Blanche Villa at 300 square metres with both a private pool and jacuzzi.

In each of the suites and villas, guests experience personalised service in luxurious comfort, within stunning natural surroundings overlooking mountains and medieval villages. They can escape within nature whilst enjoying the benefits of the highest standards of technology including complimentary high speed internet, flat screen multimedia consoles and top of the range safes. Extensive in-room amenities have been created exclusively by 'Fragonard' with products that take guests on a personal voyage of discovery, concentrating the mind on the scents of the region; mandarin and mint combined with orange blossom and cardamom, woodland green tea, cedar and musk.

The bright, airy independent suites comprise of a master bedroom with one king or two queen size beds and a living room and sofa bed. They all have a sliding door between the master bedrooms and the living room area for additional privacy and both rooms open onto a private terrace. Larger than the suites, the deluxe villas also comprise of a master bedroom with one king or two queen size beds, a living room with a sofa bed and a dining room for entertaining. Much like the suites the bedrooms and living rooms open up onto a private terrace.

Spacious marble bathrooms are fitted with a bath, a separate shower and a double sink with large windows that let in plenty of natural light. Together the bathroom designs and heated floors create a calm space in which to unwind.

Terre Blanche enjoys a unique bread oven, which allows the resort to produce 17 different kinds of freshly baked bread, offering its guests an authentic taste of a Provençal boulangerie.

GOLF

COURSES & BIODIVERSITY

Terre Blanche, a European Tour Destination, has been awarded 'Number One Golf Resort in Continental Europe' three consecutive times by Golf World Magazine UK, reflecting the resort's status as a hub of excellence, recognised at an international level. It is a top destination for golfing professionals and amateurs globally seeking the best facilities, equipment, teaching methods and services.

Two, top of the range, 18-hole championship golf courses 'Le Château' and 'Le Riou', designed by Welsh Architect Dave Thomas, are considered by many to be Terre Blanche's pièce de résistance.

Inaugurated in March 2004, the 'Le Château' course is 6616 metres / 7235 yards long and stands out for its spectacular water features; ravines; vast, rapid greens; and great bunkers of white sand.

The second course, 'Le Riou', is private for hotel guests and club members only. With steep fairways and elaborate greens, this course is both technically challenging and fun. Calling for a large variety of strokes, this spectacular course overlooks the villages of Pays de Fayence spanning over 6005 metres/ 6567 yards and requires a strong, experienced game strategy.

The hotel has recently been awarded the 'Silver Label' bestowed by the French Golf Federation and the National History Museum of Natural History as part of the 'Golf for Biodiversity' programme. This label demonstrates their commitment in favour of sustainability development and the protection of the natural heritage of the golf courses.

The hotel will now contribute to a national survey on the French's golf's biodiversity, to the sharing of eco-friendly maintenance practices for the fauna and flora, and raising awareness among golfers towards biodiversity issues and to share a positive image of golf as a responsible sport.

THE ALBATROS GOLF PERFORMANCE CENTER

The resort sports a one of a kind 'Albatros Golf Performance Centre', the only European Tour Performance Institute certified in Europe. Golf lessons, Golf Training Courses (2-5 days) and a Golf School for ages 7-17 years old are available for all levels including beginners. The centre is host to the Terre Blanche Golf Academy, which launched on 1 January 2019. The academy offers a series of newly curated programmes including lessons, inviting experienced amateurs and professionals to enrol in intensive training courses.
